This award does not apply to non-credit courses. This award is dependent upon your satisfactory academic progress. Your academic transcript will be reviewed at the end of each semester.

As required by Federal law, this office is responsible for insuring that students do not receive aid in excess of their established need. If you have been or are subsequently awarded a scholarship(s) or receive additional financial assistance to-shown on this letter or you Need Analysis, you are required to notify this office immediately. Failure to do so may jeopardize continuation of aid and may involve cancellation of aid and/or repayment of awards already received. Adjustments to your aid package shown on your Award Letter must be made on the basis of your changed financial situation, such as the receipt of a PELL Grant or other funds including employment (other than college work study) by you or your spouse, when applicable.

This Award Letter is VOID if: an error is made in determining your eligibility for, or in the amount of aid or if it is discovered that you have misrepresented or provided incorrect or false information on your application and/or Need Analysis.

You will be able to use your grant for registration and books if your award is processed prior to registration. If your application was processed after the deadline, you will be reimbursed on the posted disbursement date if you are still enrolled.

Every student is required to submit to this office the results of his/her PELL Grants application before the award package can be finalized. Your award letter is attached.
